WMEP's Results-Oriented Approach

Broad Benefits

The benefits of becoming ISO/TS certified go beyond improved quality. Manufacturers report benefits of $300,000 to $10 million as a result of certification in the form of sales increases, improved on-time delivery, reduced defects, fewer product returns. The 2008 standard is superior to previous standards because it's a business system that addresses quality—not a quality system. The result is a more focused and efficient business operation that delivers improved results for the company, employees and customers.

WMEP uses a results-oriented approach to ISO 9001 and TS 16949 that guarantees improved organizational effectiveness and efficiency. Our knowledgeable staff has many years of experience applying lean manufacturing principles to reduce waste and improve productivity, focusing on every shop and office process that supports the customer. WMEP customizes its approach to each company to develop business systems that are simple, results-driven and sustainable. Employee involvement ensures that the new ISO/TS system supports your company's unique business needs.
